

Medical Library Association Webcast

Hosted by the Spencer S. Eccles Health Sciences Library

- WHAT: Scholarly Publishing and Open Access: Straight Talk
WHEN: Tuesday, November 20, 2007
TIME: Noon to 2:00 P.M.
WHERE: History of Medicine Room, upper level
RSVP: Email Jeanne at jeannele@lib.med.utah.edu

Goal

Without doubt dramatic changes over the past several years in scientific, technical, and medical publishing have opened a Pandora's box of questions, confusion, and complexity for library patrons, researchers, and librarians and have become the subject of much discussion. The Medical Library Association (MLA) continues its engagement in the conversation and speaks to the issues in its Webcast, "Scholarly Publishing and Open Access: Straight Talk".

Objectives

- What is Scholarly Publishing?
- Environmental Scan of the Publishing Industry
- What is the Impact on Libraries and their Users
- Resources

Presenters

- Heather Joseph; Executive Director, Scholarly Publishing and Academic Resources Coalition
- Patricia Thibodeau; Associate Dean, Library Services and Archives, and Director, Medical Center Library, Duke University, Durham, NC, and Chair, Medical Library Association, Scholarly Publishing Task Force
- Karen Albert; Director, Library Services, Talbot Research Library, Fox Chase Cancer Center

Video-taped Presenters

- Carol Jenkins; Health Sciences Library, University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill
- Ricardo Pietrobon; Assistant Professor, Dept of Surgery, Duke University Medical Center,
- Mary Ryan; Medical Science Library, Univ of Arkansas-Little Rock, & president-elect, MLA
- Paul Schoening; Bernard Becker Medical Library, Washington Univ Medical School, St. Louis

For more information visit the MLA teleconference website at http://www.mlanet.org/education/distance_ed/scholarlypub/index.html

Questions? Call Jeanne at 801-585-6744 or email jeannele@lib.med.utah.edu