

Team Learning Collaborative

www.tlcollaborative.org

The TLC is an organization of health sciences faculty whose mission is to promote and support the use of team learning in medical education. The membership includes basic scientists, physician educators, allied health educators, and educational specialists all with an interest in but varied degrees of experience with team learning. The TLC can help you:

- Set up a team learning seminar for your faculty
- Identify a mentor to help you with team learning
- Provide access to a case bank of classroom teaching materials
- Link you to the most current research on team learning and evaluation methods/tools
- Participate in e-discussions pertinent to health professions faculty

For more information, visit the website at www.tlcollaborative.org