During the months of March and April 2019, EHSL is focusing its programming on Violence Against Women – Changing Perspective. Throughout these two months we will host several events to bring attention to the reality of violence against women in our community through different perspectives. An exhibit from the National Library of Medicine will focus on the history of domestic violence and the role of nurses making a difference. There will be an opportunity to participate in creating a gallery of t-shirts as evidence of the epidemic of violence against women; a lecture that shows how virtual reality is being used to combat domestic violence by putting the perpetrator in the role of the victim; an opportunity to see how virtual reality is changing the perspective in many disciplines; and a panel presentation by local experts who will discuss violence against women in our community.
The Clothesline Project is a visual display that bears witness to violence against women. During the public display, a clothesline is hung with t-shirts, each designed by the survivor or by someone who loves a woman who has been killed to represent a particular woman’s experience. The purpose of the Project is to increase awareness of the impact of violence against women, to celebrate a woman’s strength to survive, and to provide an avenue for women to courageously break the silence that often surrounds their experience. This is an interactive exhibit. T-shirts and supplies for creating designs on them will be available at the Library throughout March and April 2019. T-shirts will be hung in the EHSL Art Gallery and throughout the Library as they are created. [more...]
Activists and reformers in the United States have long recognized the harm of domestic violence and sought to improve the lives of women who were battered. Confronting Violence, Improving Women’s Lives explores the developments during latter half of the 20th century, when nurses took up the call. Beginning in the late 1970s, nurses were in the vanguard as they pushed the larger medical community to identify victims, adequately respond to their needs, and work towards the prevention of domestic violence. This exhibition was produced by the National Library of Medicine. [more...]

Towards the Rehabilitation of Domestic Violence Offenders using Virtual Reality. The Priscilla M. Mayden Lecture will focus on the results of research conducted by Dr. Mavi Sanchez-Vives on the use of virtual reality to change the perspective in domestic violence – how offenders can become the victims and the impact of that experience. At the foundation of this research are years of research on embodiment in virtual reality and the power of this approach to change from physiological responses to attitudes and behaviour. [more...]
Ask the Experts Panel: Domestic Violence in Utah. A library exhibit titled “Confronting Violence, Improving Women’s Lives” highlights nurses’ roles, starting in the late 70s, to identify victims of domestic violence, adequately respond to their needs, and work towards prevention. Experts from throughout Utah will discuss how healthcare professionals and community members are responding to current issues surrounding domestic violence in the state. Topics discussed include social support and shared experiences, digital life, social media and online behavior, and empowering future generations of women. [more...]
