Medical Library Association Webcast
Hosted by the
Spencer S. Eccles Health Sciences Library

WHAT: Moving at the Speed of Byte: Emerging Technologies for Information Management

WHEN: Wednesday, November 8, 2006

TIME: Noon to 2:00 P.M.

WHERE: History of Medicine Room, upper level

RSVP: Email Jeanne at jeannele@lib.med.utah.edu

Goal
To expose information professionals to new and emerging technologies and to encourage their use in information management

Objectives
• identify new and emerging technologies in use in library or clinical settings
• explore the use of new and emerging technologies for disseminating information or in promoting library services
• find resources supporting new and emerging technologies in library settings
• identify new technologies such as blogs and RSS to support professional growth and information sharing

Intended Audience
• Health sciences information professionals
• Public librarians
• Special librarians
• Allied health professionals

Presenters
• Gabriel R. Rios, Deputy Director, University of Alabama–Birmingham, Lister Hill Library of the Health Sciences
• Michelle Kraft, Medical Librarian, South Pointe Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio
• Bart Ragon, Assistant Director, Library Technology Services and Development, University of Virginia–Charlottesville, Claude Moore Health Sciences Library
• Chad F. Boeninger, Reference and Instruction Librarian, Ohio University, Alden Library
• David Topps, Director of eLearning, Northern Ontario School of Medicine, Sudbury

Video-taped Presenters
• Charles J. Greenberg, Coordinator of Curriculum and Research Support, Yale University, Medical Library
• Ryan P. Looney
• Nadine Ellero, Intellectual Access Librarian, University of Virginia–Charlottesville, Moore Health Sciences Library
• Robert Johnson, Education Services Librarian, Virginia Commonwealth University, Library for the Health Sciences

For more information visit the MLA teleconference website at http://www.mlanet.org/education/distance_ed/technologies/

Questions? Call Jeanne at 801-585-6744 or email jeannele@lib.med.utah.edu