Everyone knows Skype. It is voice over IP (VOIP), instant messaging IM), free service that eBay purchased for a record $2.6 billion dollars. But Skype is more than that. New feature sets are being added everyday and newly designed ingenious equipment to work with the service is constantly released. In this demo session, you can explore the next generation feature set and its various applications for the health science setting. Come see and learn what you're missing if you are not using Skype or all of its features.
